

FISCAL NOTE

HB 62 - SB 28

January 28, 2003

SUMMARY OF BILL: Provides that a former law enforcement officer who attended an approved recruit training program shall not be required to undergo such training again if reemployment as a law enforcement officer occurs within seven years from the date of termination from previous law enforcement employment.

ESTIMATED FISCAL IMPACT:

Increase Local Govt. Expenditures - Not Significant

Current practice of the POST Commission allows for up to a 10 year break in service. Estimate assumes local governments choosing to employ former officers whose break in service exceeds seven years but is less than ten years will experience an increase in expenditures for the cost of recruit training for such officers.
